

The Face That Launched A Thousand Ships!

Helen of Sparta was said to be so beautiful that when the Trojans captured her, a thousand ships went to war to get her back. In the world of bloom boosters, there is a formula so perfect, so ingeniously designed that when you use it, your flowers will sparkle with the beauty of Helen.

Behold! Big Bud Bloom Enhancer from Advanced Nutrients!

With 20 different L-form amino acids, carefully selected by our team of world-class plant scientists, Big Bud Bloom Enhancer has no competitors. The explosive results you'll see by adding these 20 L-form amino acids to your growing medium can be breathtaking. Just one of these amino acids, L-tryptophan, is what your plants use to produce special, profoundly potent bud building chemicals that have the potential to deliver you the heaviest harvest you've ever had.

And There Are 19 More.

But there's more in Big Bud than just L-form amino acids (which are vastly superior to the D-forms commonly used). There is also a delicate and precise blend of phosphorus, potassium and magnesium. Each of these is sourced from the highest quality sources on the globe, and carefully chelated to allow your plants effortless absorption.

Don't settle for D-form amino acids that other bloom enhancers use. Don't settle for mediocre flowers.

Grow the sort of flowers that will launch a thousand ships to war if they're taken. And you'll risk nothing to find out just how good that feels.

Visit your local hydroponic store and invest in Big Bud today. If you're not impressed with the flowers you grow, return with proof of purchase for a full and immediate refund.

Adjan Dammers "Use Big Bud on your strawberries. You will get more, bigger and tastier strawberries than ever before!"

Lee Don'tgiveadam Powell "Big Bud and CarboLoad. Say no more."

Claude, Mobile, Alabama "When I used the other bloom booster, the PPM would spike. The damage was clear, and once I had to flush everything. Since I started using Big Bud my friends keep asking: 'What's your secret?'"
